

The McIntosh Gallery Art & Travel Committee Presents:

Ruth Abernethy Art Tour
Cymbeline at the Tom Patterson Theatre

Spend a fun day with your friends touring the work of renowned Canadian sculptor, Ruth Abernethy. Her art includes bronze figure portraits of Glenn Gould at CBC, Toronto, and Oscar Peterson at the National Arts Centre, Ottawa. She wrote Life and Bronze: A Sculptor's Journal in 2016. In addition to bronze portraits, Ruth's studio works combine textiles, hand-made lace and stainless steel. Ruth began her Canadiana Collection in 2005, to expand the narratives on gender roles, heritage crafts and notions of nation-building. After enjoying a light brunch with Ruth, depart for Stratford to enjoy Shakespeare's Cymbeline. Forbidden love. Familial strife. Political intrigue. In Cymbeline, the playwright fuses romance, comedy and tragedy to create a unique fantasia brimming with mistaken identities and gender-swapping disguises. Set in an ancient British kingdom, the story introduces Imogen, one of Shakespeare's most beloved heroines, as well as the dastardly Iachimo, a worthy contender for all-time greatest villain.
